

Year 5 Home Learning - REAL Project (Week 1)

EQ - How will our future one day reflect our present?

Can you share your learning with us on Gmail  and Twitter .

Project Launch

Task 1 - What is a reflective learner?

Using your own knowledge; information from people around you; and perhaps some internet research, create a page in your project book, which explains what being reflective means and why it is such an important learning skill.

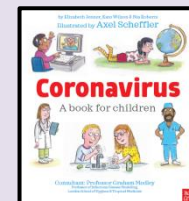

Block 1 - Define the Problem

Task 1 - What is happening in the world right now?

Follow this link and read a great e-book by 'Nosy Crow' called 'Coronavirus - A Book for Children'.

Can you then create a double page spread about the world right now, trying to answer some of these questions - What is Coronavirus? What impact is it having on the world right now? What impact is it having on you and people around you? Why have things had to change?

Task 2 - Explore reflection in Science

Watch this short BBC Bitesize clip on reflection - what do you find out?

Now, look at these different investigations, using mirrors. Choose one to try; then create a page in your project book to show me what you did and explain what you found out.

Task 2 - Emotions Art

A mood tracker is a great way to track how you feel each day. Using these examples, design one of your own. You can decide on your own image; create a key of emotions and number each part however you choose (numbered dates might be a good way to start). Every day, colour in the next section to show your mood.

Task 3 - Reflections in Art

Often, in art, water is used to show a reflection of objects of scenery. Here are some examples. Your challenge is to try and create your own piece of reflection art, using whichever equipment you wish.

All the way through Y5, you have shown us how independent and personal you can make your REAL project books so now is the chance to really shine and make this REAL Project your own. We are so so excited to see the results when we are all back together again on what will be one of the best Public Exhibitions yet!
